Matters Arising

- In cases where was an overlap between delivery groups, the Steering Committee would decide the final project list.
- Look at project No.20 and incorporate project No.21
- Tom King had produced some preliminary notes regarding the provision of more interpretation panels around the town [copy attached]
- Pick out areas that should be considered as heritage sites, and from the list advise what might be better suited to another delivery group.
- After some discussion it was decided to take up Project 21 first.

Mick Handley told the meeting that it was with regret that he would stand down from the post of Chairman due to professional and community commitments, Frank Scott-Mance agreed to take on the post of Chairman.

Project 21: The meeting decided that a list of possible heritage sites and/or buildings should be drawn up for consideration, starting at the East of Hayle and working towards the West.

Listed for Consideration:

- Loggan's Mill and area – development
- Angarrack ropewalk
- Angarrack tin smelter
- Copperhouse dock and area
- The old Cinema
- Market garden houses
- Path extension from St George's Lane, originally railway line
- Bridge on black road, seek heritage listing
- Draw up a map and lists of original locations of mills
- Preserve local names of areas where enhancement has taken place
- Professional design of Hayle Heritage branding.

- Brewery Office and Brewery Yard
- Passmore Edwards Building
- War Memorial
- Drill Hall
- Original shop front for Carwin's Dairy
- Merchant Curnow's Quay
- Swing Bridge
- Ex Gasworks office buildings.

Following the listing of the above points it was felt that some of the projects could benefit with help from volunteer helpers and groups to clear sites.

Georgina Schofield stated that she was in possession of copies of the Copperhouse pool surveys.

ING had carried out an historical survey and had agreed to preserve heritage buildings on their sites where requested.

Pictures of Copperhouse dock will be taken before the next meeting.

AOB: David Clough brought to the meeting's attention a booklet recently issued by the Penwith District Council, and entitled Core Strategy Issues and Options. Copies of the booklet were distributed to the meeting.

Date of Next Meeting – Tuesday 20th March

Reference: item 19: More interpretation panels around town.

Audit of existing panels and suggestions:

1. Stainless steel panel opposite John Harvey office and adjacent to Lloyds Bank
2. Similar type panel in Millpond Gardens
3. Stainless steel panel at lookout at top of Plantation Lane
4. The Millpond and Ropewalk areas have undergone significant changes recently, with Georgina Schofield, Bob Mims, and Penwith Beach Life Guards, playing significant parts.
5. Some sites needing identities are: -
 - a) Foundry Farm
 - b) Dowren House (old site)
 - c) Further buildings in Foundry Lane
 - d) The Biscuit Factory
 - e) Trevithick's store (now Salt Café)
 - f) Numerous buildings are pending which will require identities
 - g) Does the group think that a signboard of some sort tell the story of how tidal flows in its early days and of the efforts made to combat them at the town grew?

Copperhouse End:

In the development of Hayle the Copperhouse area played a very significant part in the town's growth, but I need guidance on locations worth of interpretation panels.

Tidal flow effects?
